Indiana Farm Bureau
Excellence in Agriculture Application
For use in the 2024 Indiana Farm Bureau Contest ONLY

Background

The Indiana Farm Bureau Excellence in Agriculture Award was developed using the American Farm Bureau (AFBF) award application. The winner of the Indiana state contest will represent the state at the AFBF convention, held annually in January.

The Excellence in Agriculture Award competition is designed as an opportunity for young farmers and ag professionals to earn recognition, while actively contributing and growing through their involvement in Farm Bureau and agriculture. Participants will be judged on their involvement in agriculture, leadership ability, and participation/involvement in Farm Bureau and other organizations (i.e., civic, service and community). The ideal candidate(s) for the Excellence in Agriculture Award is an individual or couple who does not have the majority of their gross income subject to normal production risk.

Please note that the Indiana Farm Bureau Excellence in Agriculture Award application varies from the AFBF application. The state winner will be required to complete the AFBF application prior to the submission deadline in early December. ALL INFORMATION IS HANDLED IN STRICT CONFIDENCE AND IS DESTROYED AFTER JUDGING IS COMPLETED.

- Applicant(s) will have 25 minutes to present on the topics addressed in the application and address questions from the judges. Applicants will be notified by the timekeeper when 10 minutes are remaining and again when five minutes are remaining. Each judge will be prepared to ask one question. At 25 minutes, time will be called and the applicant's time in front of the judges will conclude even if judges have not been able to ask their questions. It will be up to the applicant(s) to determine how to use this time. If the answers to the judges' questions are complete before time is called, the room moderator will call time.
- The only visual means in which to deliver the information is through a PowerPoint or Prezi presentation. The applicant(s) needs to submit their presentation on a USB flash drive during the Excellence in Agriculture Competitor Orientation. Once the presentation has been downloaded onto the laptop, it cannot be changed. A computer, LCD projector, screen and one slide advancer remote will be provided. All presentations must be formatted to work on a PC. Contestants will not be allowed to use their own computer.

Notice of State Award vs. AFBF Award

Indiana Farm Bureau's Excellence in Agriculture Award application was created using the AFBF application. Please note that the application you are about to complete is the Indiana version only. Should you be chosen as the state winner, you will be required to complete the AFBF National award application. The national application is more in-depth and will require you to provide more detailed information about yourself and your off-farm job (such as a copy of Form 1099 or Form W-2 and employer verification). Indiana Farm Bureau staff will be available to assist you in the completion of the application. To view a previous year's AFBF application, click here.
